

Property Sector Interest Group

The remit of the Property Sector Interest Group is to proactively engage with members, stakeholders and clients to provide expertise, information and best practice for the delivery of property and housing in the UK.

The Group provides guidance and assistance on the implementation of property and housing delivery in the UK and will seek to engage the expertise of ACE members alongside representatives from contracting, legal, finance, and client organisations.

Property Sector Engagement Group Terms of Reference

Objectives

1. To actively engage in ACE lobbying and research activities by providing a mechanism for membership engagement on key issues affecting member companies, the industry, and the regions and devolved nations.
2. To support and give oversight to the implementation of industry wide engagement with clients and stakeholders with regards to the development of property and housing.
3. To create a forum that provides a space in which discussions that include the wider supply chain can occur with regards to property and housing delivery.
4. To represent ACE at stakeholder events, and encourage interactions with industry on best practice and issues surrounding regulations and public policy.
5. To proactively engage with stakeholders and clients as part of ACE's overall lobbying function.
6. To give support where appropriate to key initiatives and projects so that all communications opportunities are exploited to the full
